

Rachel Fidler – MFL and ITT

Rachel is educated to Masters level with a secure pedagogy in her field. She is also an approved examiner for Spanish GCSE and has taught A level. She also has ten years industry experience leading teams and putting procedures in place to meet and exceed targets. She has received a lot of training on management styles, techniques and improving performance - all of these skills being transferable to the role of SLE.

Currently, Rachel is an Outstanding Middle Leader with responsibility for MFL at Little Lever School. Rachel states that she wants to improve the educational possibilities for as many students as possible and ensure that teachers delivering a subject are supported and confident to embrace change and try new ideas in a safe and secure environment. She is passionate about her subject and believes that teaching languages is essential for communication and breaking down barriers and in this way it is a real gift and should be treated as such. Rachel is also an outstanding teacher and firmly believes that the only way to raise standards in education is by sharing good practice so that it becomes common practice.

As a champion level coach, Rachel works with staff across all specialisms to improve teaching and learning. She has also worked closely with peers from primary and secondary schools to give them confidence in their work and to help improve systems and procedures within their own schools.
